Organic Loose Leaf Teas

White Peony

Harvest only during a brief period in early Spring, white tea is the unopened bud of the tea plant. Classic white tea is smooth and savory.

Darjeeling

These organic, golden orange pekoe tea leaves are grown on the rolling hills of Darjeeling, India. This rich drink evokes the quality tea from India, and its subtle astringency pairs perfectly with dessert.

African Sunset Red Tea

A decaffeinated red tea (also called rooibos - "roy-bus") brews up rich and lemony with just a hint of lemongrass tang. Rooibos is high in antioxidants and trace minerals.

Earl Grey

Sweet, lemony leaves meld perfectly with the distinctive citrus flavor of fresh bergamot oil extracted from the rind of bergamot oranges.

Assam English Breakfast

Assam tea is famous for its lush flavor and amber color. Rich brown and golden tipped leaves yield multi-layered "malty" flavor.

Tamayokucha Green Tea

Yeilding a light and smooth flavor with a hint of citrus, great with just a touch of sugar.
